The Executive Transportation Group, (ETG) and Prime Time Transportation, Inc. (Prime Time) announce today that Prime Time will become the newest member of the ETG consortium of companies. Prime Time's addition will bring the total number of vehicles associated with ETG to well over 2000. ETG is a consortium of black car and limousine bases with consolidated services including dispatch, billing, sales marketing and technology. Its purpose is to provide customers with the best service available and its drivers the best opportunity to earn.

Prime Time is a premium black car company with many sought after customers. Prime Time will now participate with ETG's consortium of companies in sales, marketing and technology as well as outsourcing its dispatch and billing systems.

According to John L. Acierno, president of ETG "The addition of Prime Time is a milestone for ETG as Prime Time adds key management and driver attributes to the consortium, as well as a mix of corporate and retail customers."

Michael Kandov commented "Prime Time has always flourished because it evolves as the industry changes. We see our membership in the ETG consortium as a continuation of this evolution. This is a big win for our customers and drivers."

The integration and combination will occur over the next 45days.
